Re: Annual NJ League of Municipalities Conference

Dear Mayor,

The first thing that may come to your mind when thinking of the League Conference may be topnotch education, but the wealth of connections and inspiration to be found in the exhibit hall should be a close second.

Each year, the League draws more than 1,000 exhibitors for three days of in-depth information about the latest services and products ready to improve the flow of municipal operations. From asphalt, beach cleaners, and energy services to stormwater, tourism, and wireless systems, the floor is a once-a-year opportunity to build your knowledge and create a wish list for local planning in years to come.

One of the ways we make this such a success is by working with you to ensure that our exhibitors represent the very best. If your municipality works with a great vendor, invite them to exhibit at the Annual NJ League of Municipalities Conference.

Exhibit space is already 70% sold out, so ask them to contact Kristin Lawrence, Exhibit Manager today at klawrence@njslom.org or 609-695-3481, Ext. 125.

The prospectus, interactive floor plan and other exhibit information is available at <https://nj-njslom.civicplus.com/289/Exhibitors>. Sincerely,

Michael J. Darcy, CAE
