Ethics and Conflicts of Interest

How important are ethics in today's society?
Government is a trust, and the officers of the government are trustees; and both the trust and the trustees are created for the benefit of the people.
Ethical Conduct

- Ethical conduct is more than merely meeting the standards required by law.
- Ethical conduct means doing the right thing simply because it is the right thing to do.
- Violating legal standards for conduct means that legal sanctions can be imposed.
We’re all SHOCKED, SHOCKED to learn that there has been political influence in the award of contracts.
Local Government Ethics Law

- Establishes minimum standards of conduct.
- Requires financial disclosure statements of certain officials.
- Enforced by the Local Finance Board.
- Local Ethics Boards allowed.
- Sanctions include fines.

- A person commits a crime if the person, as a public servant:
- directly or indirectly, knowingly solicits, accepts or agrees to accept any benefit, whether the benefit inures to the public servant or another person, to influence the performance of an official duty or to commit a violation of an official duty.
Criminal Code

A public servant commits a crime if:

- Under color of office and in connection with any official act … the public servant directly or indirectly knowingly receives any benefit – whether to the public servant or another person – to influence the performance of an official duty or to commit a violation of an official duty.
A crime of the second degree, except that if the benefit solicited, accepted or agreed to be accepted or received is of a value of $200.00 or less, any offense …. Is a crime of the third degree.

N.J.S.A. 2C:27-10 e

So …… the crime exists at all levels, but the potential penalty is less if the value was under $200.00
Is it an improper benefit?

benefit includes: any benefit from or by reason of a contract or agreement for goods, property or services if the contract or agreement is awarded, made or paid by the branch, subdivision or agency of the government that employees the public servant
Situation # 1

Employee places an order for office supplies, and the supplier provides a “gift” based on the size of the order.

The employee receives the “gift” and keeps it, because it was not part of the supplies ordered for the municipality.

Is that improper?
Situation # 2

After the meeting several of the governing body members and the attorney and the engineer to to the local diner for coffee and a hamburger.
At the end of the evening, the attorney or the engineer picks up the check.
Is that trivial?
Does that influence the public officials?
Situation # 3

One of the professionals employed by the municipality sends gifts to each of the elected officials, to the Administrator, to the Clerk, to the Zoning Officer …. Etc.

Is that unethical?
Does it depend on the value?
Pocket calendar?
Fruit basket?
Liquor?
Playoff tickets?
Situation # 4

The Developer explains that what they propose for your community is similar to their development in ThatTown and that they would like to arrange for a bus to take members of the staff, the governing body and the Planning Board to see the ThatTown project. They will host lunch for the group in the Community Center in ThatTown.
Ethical Considerations

Situation # 5

The Developer explains that what they propose for your community is similar to their development in Denver, Colorado, and that they would like to arrange for you, two members of the governing body and three members of the Planning Board to see the Denver project. They suggest an overnight trip and offer to cover the air fare, hotel and meals.
Situation # 6

The Developer explains that what they propose for your community is similar to their development near Orlando, Florida, and that they would like to arrange for you, two members of the governing body and three members of the Planning Board to see the project. They suggest a weekend trip and offer to cover the air fare, accommodations at one of the Disneyworld Hotels and meals. They will host a bus tour to the development and will host a dinner to be held at a restaurant at Epcot Center on Saturday evening.
Situation # 7

Same situation as before, but the Developer suggests that spouses be invited for the weekend trip. In order to avoid any criticism, the Developer suggests that the individuals be responsible for the air transportation for the spouses. The hotels cost nothing additional and the meal costs are regarded as trivial by the developer.
Situation # 8

• The Developer calls and thanks you for all of your cooperation during the process of obtaining the necessary approvals. Now that the application process is completed and permits issued, he remembered that your son was a big baseball fan. They offer you two tickets for the Phillies-Yankees-Mets (team of your choice) game on Saturday night, noting that they are GREAT seats.

• Would it make a difference if it was for the Trenton Thunder?

• How about a coupon for a coffee at a WaWa?
Gifts

N.J.S.A. 2C:27-10 d provides exceptions for:

- Fees prescribed by law … or any other benefit to which the public servant is otherwise legally entitled .. If the benefit is not bartered for another benefit to influence the performance of an official duty
- Gifts or other benefits conferred on account of kinship or other personal, professional or business relationship independent of the official status of the recipient
- Trivial benefits the receipt of which involve no risk that the public servant would perform official duties in a biased or partial manner
Gifts

What constitutes a “trivial benefit”?

- Under Federal law, the standard for Federal employees is set at $20.00.
State Policy

In accordance with the New Jersey Conflicts of Interest Law, any gift or other item of value including floral and food items by a person or entity with whom a State employee has had contact in his/her official capacity must be declined, and the offer must be reported immediately and returned to … [the] … , Department Ethics Liaison Officer.
Ethical Conduct

The very essence of a free government consists in considering offices as public trusts, bestowed for the good of the country, and not for the benefit of an individual or a party.

John C. Calhoun

Speech, February 13, 1835
Corey Kemp
Former Philadelphia City Treasurer
After conviction on 27 counts of corruption related charges
Philadelphia Inquirer, May 15, 2005
[On July 19, 2005, Kemp was sentenced to 10-years in prison]

I wish I didn't do some of the things or go to some of those places because my life isn't worth a trip to the Super Bowl. My life ain't worth a lunch.
Bill’s Guideline Number 1

• If your worst political enemy found out what you did and raised the issue at a public meeting, would you be embarrassed in explaining your conduct and in trying to justify your actions. If so, then don’t do it in the first place.
Ethics and Conflicts of Interest

Bill’s Guideline Number 2

• If your mother found out what you did, would you find it embarrassing to explain to your mother why you did it? If so, then don’t do it in the first place.
Bill’s Guideline Number 3

• When you get caught are you going to find it difficult to explain to your family - especially your children - why you have been taken from your home in handcuffs?

[Note: You will be caught, no matter how careful or secretive you think that you have been.]
Bill’s Guideline Number 4

• Do you really think that you would have received that gift if you were not in an official position able to influence something for the gift giver? If you would not have received the gift, except for your official position ….. then you probably should not accept it.
Thomas Jefferson
Letter to his Grandson, Francis Eppes, Age 14
Monticello, May 21, 1816

Never suffer a thought to be harbored in your mind which you would not avow openly. When tempted to do anything in secret, ask yourself if you would do it in public. If you would not, be sure it is wrong.
Corruption never has never been compulsory.

Anthony Eden (1897-1977)
British Prime Minister, 1955-1957
Ethics and Conflicts of Interest

- Integrity costs you nothing.
- Nobody owes you anything, including special treatment.
- Public service is about service, not profit.
- Unethical conduct will cost you and your family in reputation, financially and even in your freedom.
- Honor comes in doing the right thing.
Theodore Roosevelt
President of the United States
